INTRODUCTION

Haley Jensen chooses to create artwork like a shaman lives life, by “walking between the worlds”. She seeks to build bridges between the realms of emotional experience, dreamscape and identity. Through dance performance & movement arts she weaves the light and dark, conscious and unconscious, feminine and masculine. Her background in hip hop dance, popping, butoh and conceptual performance art give her style depth and originality. She has coordinated performance for a massive music event, performed in local dance productions and created her own performances for private audiences. Her deep sensitivity and experience as a cancer survivor inspires her to bring forth artwork that lowers the veil. Through her creations she explores questions like:

Who are we to exist in this world? What does it mean to exist in a conscious physical body? How does that feel? What is a soul? Where does the magic lie?

Goal:

To build a successful career around performance arts, receive opportunities to create solo and group works to share with the community virtually & physically and to discover depths of understanding about myself and the human experience through exploring the realms of movement & performance.
